Rose Great Hall, Jamaica

1 Tourists who are bored of the beach can visit one of the many historic houses in Jamaica. These were mostly built in the 18th century by rich Europeans who owned sugar plantations.

5 Perhaps the most famous of these houses is Rose Great Hall, in Montego Bay. This house was built in 1770 and was owned by John Palmer. His wife Annie made this house very famous. Annie Palmer is also called the 'White Witch of Rose Hall' and people say you can see her ghost in the house at night. The story says that Annie's teacher showed her how to do magic, and Annie used her magic to make John Palmer marry her. John Palmer was very rich and owned one of the largest plantations in Jamaica. People say Annie killed him and then killed her next two husbands too. Later she was killed by a slave who worked on the plantation.

10 We know today that the story is not true, but people still visit the house to see if they can see the famous ghost.

Use these words to write a short story about the Caribbean. Use the simple past. (Lösungsvorschlag)

Last summer I was on holiday in Dominica with my family. We went on a hiking tour in the jungle. We started our tour early in the morning. It soon became very hot in the jungle and there were a lot of insects. Suddenly my mum screamed. She had just seen a snake. We were really scared but the tour guide took it. The snake wasn't dangerous but it smelled bad when it was scared.

a) Who gives better advice – friends or parents? Collect reasons. (Lösungsvorschlag)

parents	friends
your parents love you	your friends know you best
they want to help you	they often have the same problems
they are older and have more life experience	they are younger and understand you better

b) Write your opinion.

The question is 'Who gives better advice - friends or parents?' On the one hand, friends can give great advice because they know you best. They often have the same problems. On the other hand, your parents want to help you. Your friends are younger and understand you better. However, your parents are older and have more life experience. In my opinion you should listen to your friends and to your parents because both can give you great advice.
