Sockeye salmon<sup>1</sup>

- 1 The Adams River runs from British Columbia to the Pacific Ocean, but what makes this river so special is the kind of fish that lives there – the sockeye salmon. These fish are born in the river and spend the first year of their life there. After that they go on a 2,000-kilometre journey to the Pacific Ocean.
- 5 Three years later they return to the river where they were born. It only takes them 17 days to get there. This return journey is a wonder of nature, and it's almost like parkour for the fish as they swim up the river and even jump up waterfalls. Along the way the fish stop eating and change color from green to bright red. At the end of their journey they lay their eggs and die.
- 10 Nobody knows why, but every four years the number of salmon is really large – in the millions. In 2010 there were about 34 million. In other years it is only hundreds. The next big years are 2022 and 2026. During these years up to 200,000 tourists will come to the area to watch them.

Dear Sir or Madam,
I am writing to you because of the situation in our local park. The park is always full of garbage because people throw their garbage
on the ground after picnics.
The equipment on the playground is really old and broken. My younger brother can't play there without hurting himself. Please do something about it. Clean the park and repair things on the playground.

Addicted to online games

Addicted gamers often don't eat or sleep because they don't want to stop playing their games. They spend all of their free time online and don't see their friends any more. The gaming world can even replace the real world. In some games you can only get to higher levels if you spend a lot of time playing or you need money to buy online equipment, which can become very expensive over time.
