

Population development in different parts of the world

The new urban world

The earth reaches a momentous milestone: by next year, for the first time in history, more than half its population will be living in cities. Those 3.3 billion people are expected to grow to 5 billion by 2030 — this unique map of the world shows where those people live now.

SOURCE: UNFPA GRAPHIC: PAUL SCRUTON

Urban population in the countries of the world (entire map)

The earth reaches a momentous milestone: by next year, for the first time in history, more than half its population will be living in cities.

Those 3.3 billion people are expected to grow to 5 billion by 2030 — this unique map of the world shows where those people live now.

Quelle: The Guardian (Paul Scruton)

