a) Read the text.

Dominik: Your mum said something about a big fire in London. When was that?

Luke: Oh, it was a long time ago in 1666. We call it the Great Fire of London.

Dominik: What happened? Was it a cannon ball again like at the Globe Theatre?

Luke: No, it wasn't like that. A baker* forgot to put out the fire in his kitchen when he went to bed. Next morning his house was on fire. Soon all the other houses in the road were on fire too. It was a windy day, you see.

Dominik: That's awful! What did the people do?

Luke: They tried to use water from the River Thames, but that didn't help.

Dominik: Did the fire ruin all the buildings in London?

Luke: It ruined most of the houses in the old city. But not many people were hurt.
