The USA is a country of many different ethnic minorities, all of which have had different levels of success and integration. Of course, there has always been a _____ between the rich and the poor. For example, although the social class system in Britain is not as easy to define as it used to be, society is still divided. Your class is no longer simply _____ by how much money you have, but also your job, and where you live. Add to that the _____ issue of _____ and it is clear society is split into a very complex hierarchy.

Multiculturalism and _____ are _____ a positive thing for modern societies. Different people bring their own cultures and traditions to another country, such as food, fashion and art.
